REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

At the close of another year we are reminded of our duty to our fellow citizens to report to you our labors in connection with our public schools.

Our school officers have remained the same as last year, but the work of supervision has been performed by the chairman and secretary, owing to the absence of Mrs. R. W. Benson, who resigned her position as teacher at East Carver shortly before the commencement of the fall term, and left the state for a limited time to engage in duties of a different character.

We close the year with seven schools.

No. 5. Mixed at East Carver.

The mixed school at East Head was closed after a fifteen weeks' term, to accommodate as usual cranberry picking.

No. 8 Mixed was abolished from necessity, at the close of the summer term, there being only four scholars left to constitute a school, two of whom have since moved from town, while the others are now members of Grammar No. 4.

The teachers employed at the close of the year are as follows:

1st Grammar, Mr. Elmer B. Perkins.
4th Grammar, Miss Vesta B. Shaw.

VISITS.

There have been 182 visits from parents and citizens to our schools during the year, besides the committee.

We have procured three flags in accordance to law, and poles for them to be erected upon, on all pleasant days, which we believe to be in harmony with the spirit of patriotism existing in every home in town. Glory to the flag!

REMARKS IN DETAIL.

In speaking of the details of supervision we come to a vital characteristic of our work connected with the daily routine of teachers' and pupils' duties in their schoolroom homes. We observe much excellence in character, motive, and organization, in carrying forward their methods of instruction, and dicipline, to develop satisfactory results, which are seen in some features of their work more than in others. We can truthfully award to our teachers faithfulness and virtue, in their work with the children, which are among the ideal requisites of a good teacher's practical example and instruction.

All labor in whatever it is employed is progressive and remunerative just in proportion as the best means are used to equip the employe and workshop.

The farmer, the physician, the manufacturer, the banker, the artist, yes, all representatives of modern industry, are compelled by force of the growth of competition in the open sale's market to utilize every economic and inventive means in the production and manufacture of their goods for commercial exchange and consumption. Every thing we make or purchase is the outgrowth of the investment of capital in modern facilities. Not a man of us would work our farms today from our father's standpoint. They were well enough then, for all other farmers were like them. Not a mill man of you would run his plant with old style apparatus; nor the only foundry company in town, whose sagacity and enterprise date back to the struggles in their early beginnings, would venture to run a pound of melted ore into their old patterns for stoves and hollow ware for competitive sale and profit. Usually private interests are consulted first, then the interests of the town or the public.

In our common schools nearly a score of years has elapsed since a beginning was made in grading. At that time four schools were partly graded and the experiment has been successful, as all will testify. The others, or inside schools, still have the mixed system, a detrimental element in all their school work. By it delays are occasioned, loss of time in leaving topics before they are properly considered, alternating studies to enable the teacher to start on a wide plan, or bridge over embarrassments. This should not be so. The children are losing a large share of their school life by the system which we have been obliged to continue. We think the remedy should be used. You have given us a good opportunity in a few years past to observe the working of these damaging agencies in our schools. We are behind other industries of private enterprise in our own town. Other towns are giving their children better opportunities, and our children are attending their schools at a large outlay every year. We think the remedy is largely in our own hands. Our people are asking for it. The State in her generosity is offering large inducements for towns like ours to revolutionize their system of school instruction, before we may be compelled to do it at the instance of State mediation. We think all our schools should be run on the same plan, that all may receive equal benefits and good results.

Some of our schoolrooms should be reconstructed or give place to the new ones of larger capacity, and more perfect arrangements, and placed in better locations. The seats, ventilation, methods of heating and lighting, as well as location, are among the defects in our schoolhouses. We recommend a careful inspection of your school system, with a view to enhance the annual outlay of our school money and make our schools equal in value to any in the State.

Respectfully submitted,

EBEN S. LUCAS, Chairman.
GUSTAVUS ATWOOD, Secretary.

Report of Trustees of Town Library.

In submitting our first annual report we can say but little except to congratulate the friends of the library upon its auspicious opening.

At our last annual meeting, under the law of 1890, the town voted an appropriation of twenty-five dollars, by which action we were granted books from the State to the value of one hundred dollars. With these books as a nucleus, we feel confident that the library will grow through annual additions from the town, and from private donations, to become an established institution in Carver.

The room in the town hall occupied by the W. C. T. U. has been fitted for a library building, and since its opening, on Jan. 1st, the people have manifested a lively interest.

We publish below a catalogue of books in the library to date, and in years to come we recommend only that additions be printed in the annual town report.

Respectfully submitted,

ALBERT T. SHURTLEFF,
HENRY S. GRIFFITH,
NELSON SHERMAN,
Trustees of Public Library.
